

Trilogy Health Services acquires Kingston HealthCare Company

LOUISVILLE, Ky. – Two industry leaders in senior care have joined forces to continue the long-standing traditions of excellence and innovative service that are shaping experiences for seniors throughout the Midwest.

Trilogy Health Services, a highly respected operator of more than 130 senior living campuses across the Midwest, announced today it has acquired the Toledo-based Kingston HealthCare Company and 14 of its facilities. This strategic acquisition deepens Trilogy's presence across Indiana and Ohio, strengthening its mission to make lives better for residents, their families and their communities through exceptional care and service.

"Kingston's legacy of excellence and dedication to both residents and employees aligns perfectly with Trilogy's values," said Leigh Ann Barney, CEO of Trilogy Health Services. "We are honored to be chosen to continue Kingston's legacy into its next chapter and look forward to building on their strong foundation. Together, we will continue to create an exceptional experience for our customers and employees, while opening new opportunities for growth".

The transaction includes a transition in ownership of 14 senior living campuses in Indiana and Ohio, plus two additional sites in North Carolina and New Mexico. Trilogy's growth strategy will remain focused on its core Midwestern footprint.

Kingston HealthCare, founded and led by President and CEO George Rumman for nearly 40 years, is recognized for its commitment to quality care, employee focus and community impact. "We are proud of the legacy Kingston has created and confident in the future it will build with Trilogy," Rumman said. "This milestone ensures Kingston's mission and values will continue to thrive for years to come."
